Venkateshbabu Nagendrababu

Personal Statement

I completed my Bachelor of Dentistry and Master of Dental Surgery in Endodontology from India in 2005 and 2008 respectively. My research interest in Endodontology, culminated in me pursuing a PhD, which I was awarded in 2015 from Sri Ramachandra University, India. I am an ardent and focused clinician, but have a strong interest in teaching and research, which led me to pursue an academic career path. In 2008, I joined Sri Ramachandra University, India as a full-time faculty and in 2014 moved to the International Medical University, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. My academic experience covers more than 14 years in a range of academic and clinical roles within dentistry, particularly Endodontology. I have also been involved in setting standards for university level examination questions, and also in the development and assessment of curricula in Restorative Dentistry and Endodontics. My teaching duties include supervision of students in pre-clinical and clinical sessions, delivering small group discussions including Problem Based Learning (PBL), Case Based Learning (CBL), preparing questions and didactic lectures. I have experience of giving preclinical demonstration using typodont/natural teeth, as well as video demonstrations to improve the manual skills of students. I have been actively involved in teaching using small group discussions.

My interest in research has resulted in 192 publications (H index, Scopus -26) in peer-reviewed journals and 22 research grants totaling approximately 129,000 USD. Since, 2020, I was appointed as the Associate Editor of the International Endodontic Journal (Impact factor – 5.264). From 2023, I was appointed as the Associate Editor of the Dental Traumatology (Impact factor – 3.1). My primary research interest is on strategies to combat root canal biofilms and I have several international peer-reviewed publications on this topic. I have also developed an interest in evidence-based dentistry and have published several systematic reviews using the latest statistical tools including meta-analysis, network meta-analysis and trial sequential analysis. In addition, I have evaluated the quality of systematic reviews published in the field of Endodontics as well as Pediatric Dentistry. This project has offered recommendations to authors on the most appropriate manner to publish high quality reviews. I am one of the project leaders for developing guidelines for reporting various study designs in Endodontics (PRIDE – Preferred Reporting Items for study Designs in Endodontics, <http://pride-endodonticguidelines.org/>).

Strong research interests, good communication skill and an ethos of hard work, have provided me with the ability to proactively collaborate with many experienced Endodontists across the globe. I am fastidious in keeping abreast of developments in the clinical field of Endodontics. I regularly treat patients requiring endodontic treatment. I am interested in managing unusual root canal anatomy, retreatment, instrument retrieval, management of perforations etc.
